Clay Bistrot

Marc Krusin, 2024

Clay Bistrot interprets the archetype of the Clay table through more compact proportions, designed to accommodate smaller tops without altering its formal identity. The conical base retains its distinctive character, yet is recalibrated to engage with more contained surfaces, generating a precise and measured visual balance. The bistrot configuration emphasizes the verticality of the volume, reducing the footprint and allowing greater freedom of movement around the table. The result is an element with a recognizable presence, able to integrate naturally into dynamic spaces where compactness and character must coexist.

Clay Bistrot

Table with a conical base in rigid polyurethane, available in a selection of colors and finishes that enhance the sculptural lines of the design. This version without the subtop is conceived to meet the needs of more compact dimensions, without sacrificing elegance or versatility. The round base pairs with tops of various sizes, crafted in different materials and offered in a wide range of finishes and tones.
